Donald Trump is the current President of the United States, having won a landslide reelection in November 2024 and returning to the White House in January 2025. In his second term, Trump has focused on strengthening America's trade position, pursuing protectionist policies, and expanding his "America First" agenda both at home and abroad. <sup>[1]</sup> <sup>[2]</sup> <sup>[3]</sup>

International Diplomacy and Trade

Trump began his second term with a highly publicized tour of Asia in October 2025, with stops in Malaysia, Japan, South Korea, and a pivotal meeting with China's President Xi Jinping. He is working to finalize a new trade deal with China and has intervened to facilitate peace between Thailand and Cambodia, taking credit for brokering an extended ceasefire agreement between those nations. His focus in Southeast Asia is to demonstrate continued U.S. engagement in a region where China's influence is growing. <sup>[4]</sup> <sup>[5]</sup> <sup>[6]</sup> <sup>[7]</sup> <sup>[8]</sup>

Domestic Policy Initiatives

President Trump's current policy approach emphasizes deregulation, expanded use of executive power, and a shift toward state capitalism. He has enacted significant tax and regulation cuts, sought greater government equity in major U.S. corporations, and promoted anti-vaccine activism, resulting in a resurgence of some infectious diseases. He continues to appoint industry insiders to key environmental posts, rolling back climate regulations and withdrawing the U.S. from the Paris Agreement—again. <sup>[9]</sup> <sup>[1]</sup>

Trump's administration has also undergone a major overhaul of government agencies, reducing oversight and investigation into political corruption, cutting scientific research funding, and opposing diversity, equity, and inclusion initiatives. He expanded the domestic use of military deployments to cities governed by political rivals. <sup>[10]</sup> <sup>[2]</sup> <sup>[9]</sup> <sup>[1]</sup>

Immigration and Project 2025

A major focus has been immigration reform, with sweeping policy plans dubbed "Project 2025." These proposals include heightened mass deportations, abolishing temporary protected status for migrants, privatizing elements of immigration agencies, and deputizing state National Guard and local law enforcement for enforcement duties. Trump's immigration crackdown has drawn criticism for placing migrants in camps near the border and for cutting federal disaster funds to states defying federal immigration laws. <sup>[11]</sup> <sup>[2]</sup> <sup>[10]</sup>

Government Shutdown and Leadership Style

During a recent government shutdown in October 2025, Trump traveled abroad, distancing himself from domestic legislative gridlock while essential services faced severe disruptions. His leadership style remains unconventional, marked by direct negotiation tactics, frequent use of social media, and a prioritization of loyalty among top officials.<sup>[12] [2] [1]</sup>

Legacy and Public Image

Donald Trump continues to position himself as a champion of American economic strength and traditional values, often drawing sharp divisions on issues such as climate policy, immigration, multiculturalism, and federal oversight. His administration's actions have inspired passionate support and equally strong opposition, making him one of the most polarizing global leaders in modern history.<sup>[2] [13] [9] [1]</sup>

Trump's legacy is defined by his drive to reshape both U.S. domestic policy and its role on the world stage, seeking to fulfill his vision of the American dream for all citizens—while navigating complex political and diplomatic challenges in real time.<sup>[3] [4] [1] [2]</sup>
